

Client Name:

Abante Marketing

Date Completed:

April 2018

Location:

Lincoln, NE

General Contractor:

Ironhide Construction, Inc

Architect

Design Associates

Size:

6500 SF

ABANTE MARKETING

Abante Marketing is a project that consisted of a 6,500 SF Pre-Engineered Metal building with Insulated Metal Panels as the facade. Ironhide was the General Contractor for this project. This was a complete design build starting with a napkin sketch with the owners describing their wants and needs. The entire interior was finished out for office space. The site was laid out in a way so the owners can expand and build two more buildings if needed.

---

Ironhide Construction is a leading Midwest general contractor and structural restoration company. From design to project management to construction, Ironhide transforms metal into modern, custom buildings that are functional and stylish. Ironhide Construction is also one of only a few companies in the region that specializes in the challenges of structural restoration, as well as develops phased maintenance plans for buildings, parking garages, and other structures. Ironhide approaches every project with transparency, accountability, and quality results from proposal to completion. Visit IronhideConstruction.com for more information.